Gender Equality Today & the Need to Promote Research (Temporary)

We are pleased to invite Dr. Nuzzo, the founder and president of ISH-Tachi Aoi, which will be Japan's first and only women-centric entrepreneurial incubator. The organization offers start-up support programs and short courses in basic business management for women who carry on traditional crafts and arts, and plans to establish a research center to promote gender equality. It also leads institutional partnerships to promote gender equality in practice.

He will talk about the need to promote research in light of the serious challenges that Japanese women are currently facing. We look forward to your participation!

Free of charge!
